

A four-star design studio

We have a modest mindset to deliver first-class work at a great value. Think of us like a four-star hotel...minus the fuzzy robe and slippers. You get the same great amenities of a five-star agency without the glitz, the glamour or the hefty price tag.

t*w*entystar who?

The "we" in twentystar is usually just me, Kevin Horn. I've been designing for and working with the web since 1999 as an in-house designer and creative director in Colorado.

Depending on the project, other talented folks may join me to help with the heavy lifting on programming or copy writing. But "we" like to keep things as simple as possible.

"I organize chaos with analysis and design."

Why Not Five Stars?

We believe things can always improve. If something is five-star, that implies that it's perfect. Nothing—especially on the web—is ever perfect. For us, that fifth star is the motivation to keep improving and keep learning. We're never satisfied.

How 'bout you? Are you satisfied with your brand, your website, your results? If not, let's talk.
